

TEMC&BHGF 2017 International Medical Forum & the 6th Harvard China Conference in Nanjing

From November 11th to November 12th 2017, with the joint support of the Jiangsu Provincial Commission of Health and Family Planning and Nanjing Municipal Health and Family Planning Commission, sponsored by The International Emergency Management Society Emergency Medical Committee (TEMC), Beijing Huatong Guokang Foundation (BHGF), and hosted by Nanjing Drum Tower Hospital, 2017 TEMC&BHGF International Medical Forum & The 6th Harvard China Program Experience Exchange Conference was successfully held in Nanjing International Youth Convention Center. The conference invited Mr. K. Harald Drager, Chairman of The International Emergency Management Society and more than 20 foreign experts from top international medical institutions, including Harvard Medical School, Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, St. Patrick's University Hospital in Ireland and Klinikum Lippe GmbH in Germany etc. This conference had one main forum and seven sub-forums. The sub-forums were the President Forum, Oncology Forum, Cardiology Forum, Clinical Laboratory Forum, Finance Forum, Critical Care forum and Pharmacy forum. Altogether there were 600 presidents and department directors from all over China present at the medical festival.

With the purpose of "Leading Innovation & Win-win Cooperation", and centering on the topic of emergency health management, chronic disease management and hospital operations and management, participants partook in in-depth exchanges and discussions. At the meeting, Harvard Medical School, TEMC & BHGF and Nanjing Drum Tower Hospital formally signed a memorandum of tripartite cooperation. Xi'an City, Shaanxi Province was selected as the host city of the 2018 Forum, and nine series of international learning program reports were issued.

On behalf of the forum organizer, President Han Guangshu of Nanjing Drum Tower Hospital introduced the hospital's history in his speech and expressed thankfulness for the attention and support from health administrative departments at the beginning of the conference, the help from The International Emergency Management Society Emergency Medical Committee (TEMC), and the Beijing Huatong Guokang Foundation (BHGF) for the international medical staff training program. As the forum was held on November 11th, president Han expressed four expectations with an arabic numeral ONE: one mission, one consensus, one bridge and one dream. He was calling on domestic and foreign counterparts to work together to make new contributions to healthcare through the platform.

On the morning of the 11th, the Harvard Medical School, TEMC & BHGF and Nanjing Drum Tower Hospital formally signed a memorandum of tripartite cooperation. Professor David Roberts, Dean of External Education of Harvard Medical School, Director Chen Ran of The International Emergency Management Society Emergency Medical Committee (TEMC) and President Han Guangshu from Nanjing Drum Tower Hospital attended the signing ceremony. The three parties will start strategic cooperation in talent cultivation, discipline construction and clinical research based on the principle of mutual equality and win-win cooperation.

Nine learning reports were issued during the conference: the Harvard Senior personnel training program, UK-Sweden health management program, Italy- Germany Health management program, Harvard critical care medicine program, Harvard clinical laboratory program, Harvard Oncology program, Harvard Cardiology program, Johns Hopkins Pharmacy program, UK Finance program.
